- (2) The review under subsection (1) must, in addition to any other matters the Secretary of State deems appropriate, include consideration of –
 - (a) the extent to which revisions to the electronic communications code have secured progress towards His Majesty’s Government’s targets relating to telecommunications infrastructure,
 - (b) the balance of rights and responsibilities of landowners and telecommunications operators, and
 - (c) the impact of this Act on the level of competition in the telecommunications sector.
- (3) The independent person may make recommendations to the Secretary of State on matters including (but not limited to) –
 - (a) potential further revisions to the electronic communications code,
 - (b) potential amendments to –
 - (i) legislation, or
 - (ii) guidance,relating to the valuation of land used to host telecommunications infrastructure, and

- (c) the potential benefits of imposing a requirement for telecommunications operators to report annually to OFCOM on their investment in new infrastructure.
- (4) Upon receipt of the report from the independent person, the Secretary of State must –
 - (a) publish the report,
 - (b) prepare a response to the report, and
 - (c) lay a copy of the report and response before Parliament.”

COMMONS REASON

The Commons disagree to Lords Amendment 17 for the following Reason –

17A Because it would give rise to a new head of public expenditure, and the Commons do not offer any further Reason, trusting that this Reason may be deemed sufficient.

A Lord Parkinson of Whitley Bay to move, That this House do not insist on its Amendment 17, to which the Commons have disagreed for their Reason 17A.
