This clause creates a new requirement for all employers to investigate whistleblowing concerns. “(2A) Where an access agreement relates to a hospital (within the meaning of section 275 of the National Health Service Act 2006), physical entry may be refused where —

- (b) the access purpose can reasonably be achieved by alternative means of communication, or
- (c) access would unreasonably disrupt urgent or time-sensitive medical activity.

(2B) In determining whether access is reasonable in the context of a hospital, the Central Arbitration Committee must give significant weight to the factors set out in subsection (2A).”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment makes special provision for hospital workplaces, allowing physical access to be refused where it would impact patient safety, infection control, or clinical operations, or where access purposes can be met by alternative means. 215A Schedule 6, page 218, line 17, at end insert –

“3A After paragraph 13 insert –

“13A (1) This paragraph applies if –

- (a) the CAC has received an application under paragraph 11 or 12, and
 - (b) it has given notice to the employer under paragraph 13 of receipt of the application.

- (3) The duties are –
- (a) to give to the CAC, within the relevant period, the specified information in relation to each of the relevant workers;
 - (b) if the relevant workers change as a result of an appropriate bargaining unit being agreed by the parties or decided by the CAC, to give to the CAC, within the relevant period, the specified information in relation to each of those who are now the relevant workers;
 - (c) to take reasonable steps to ensure that the information given to the CAC under paragraph (a) or (b) does not include any information relating to an individual who is not a relevant worker;
 - (d) to inform the CAC, as soon as reasonably practicable, of any worker in relation to whom information has been given to the CAC under paragraph (a) or (b) and who ceases to be a relevant worker (otherwise than by reason of a change mentioned in paragraph (b)).

- (b) in the case of the duty in sub-paragraph (3)(b) –
 - (i) the period of 5 working days starting with the day after that on which the bargaining unit is agreed or the CAC's decision is notified to the employer, or
 - (ii) such longer period (so starting) as the CAC may specify to the parties by notice containing reasons for the extension.

(5) The specified information, in relation to a relevant worker, is –

- (a) the worker's name;
- (b) the worker's date of birth;
- (c) the category of worker to which the relevant worker belongs.

but excluding any worker who joined the bargaining unit after the application day.

(7) In the case of an application under paragraph 12(4), the relevant workers are those falling within the bargaining unit agreed by the parties, excluding any worker who joined the bargaining unit after the application day.

13B(1) Sub-paragraph (2) applies if –

- (a) the CAC is satisfied that the employer has failed to fulfil a duty mentioned in paragraph 13A(3), and
- (b) the application under paragraph 11 or 12 is in progress.

(2) The CAC may order the employer –

- (a) to take such steps to remedy the failure as the CAC considers reasonable and specifies in the order, and

- and in this paragraph a “remedial order” means an order under this sub-paragraph.
- (3) If—
 - (a) the CAC is satisfied that the employer has failed to comply with a remedial order, and
 - (b) the application under paragraph 11 or 12 is in progress, the CAC must, as soon as reasonably practicable, notify the employer and the union (or unions) that it is satisfied that the employer has failed to comply.
- (4) A remedial order and a notice under sub-paragraph (3) must draw the recipient’s attention to the effect of sub-paragraphs (5) and (6).
- (5) Sub-paragraph (6) applies if—

 - (f) the holding of any ballot arising from the application.””

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment requires an employer to provide certain information about the workers in a bargaining unit within 5 working days after the employer is notified of an application for recognition of a trade union. The duty does not include workers who joined the unit after the application was received by the CAC, as they cannot vote in any potential ballot arising from the application.

- (b) such longer period (so starting) as the CAC may specify to the parties by notice containing reasons for the extension.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment would provide that, where an application under Part 1 of Schedule A1 to the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 (recognition of trade union as entitled to conduct collective bargaining) has been made, the period for agreeing terms on which the trade union seeking recognition is to have access to the relevant workers in connection with the application is 20 working days following notification that the union's application is accepted. The amendment would also enable the Central Arbitration Committee to specify a longer period.

“Changes relevant to appropriateness of bargaining unit

32A(1) Paragraph 67 (admissibility of applications: employer or union believes bargaining unit no longer appropriate) is amended as follows.

(2) In sub-paragraph (2)(c), at the end insert “(but see sub-paragraph (3)).”

(3) After sub-paragraph (2) insert –

“(3) In a case where the application was received by the CAC before the end of the period of three years starting with the day on which the declaration referred to in paragraph 64(1)(a) was issued, the CAC must disregard the matter specified in sub-paragraph (2)(c).”

32B(1) Paragraph 70 (determination of bargaining unit by CAC) is amended as follows.

(2) In sub-paragraph (3)(c), at the end insert “(but see sub-paragraph (3A)).”

(3) After sub-paragraph (3) insert –

“(3A) In a case where the application was received by the CAC before the end of the period of three years starting with the day on which the declaration referred to in paragraph 64(1)(a) was issued, the CAC may not take into account the matter specified in sub-paragraph (3)(c).”

32C In paragraph 75 (questions for CAC to decide where employer believes bargaining unit has ceased to exist), in sub-paragraph (3)(c), at the end insert “(but see paragraph 77(4A)).”

- 32D In paragraph 77 (CAC’s decision as to appropriateness of bargaining unit, etc), after sub-paragraph (4) insert—

“(4A) In a case where the copy of the notice given to the CAC by the employer under paragraph 74(1) was received by the CAC before the end of the period of three years starting with the day on which the declaration referred to in paragraph 64(1)(a) was issued, in deciding whether the original unit is no longer appropriate the CAC must disregard the matter specified in paragraph 75(3)(c).”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment provides that, where the Central Arbitration Committee has issued a declaration that a trade union is recognised as entitled to conduct collective bargaining on behalf of a bargaining unit, and a decision of the CAC as to the continued appropriateness of the bargaining unit is sought under Part 3 of Schedule A1 to the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 before the end of the period of three years beginning with the date of the declaration, the CAC is not to take into account substantial changes in the number of workers employed in the original unit.

As an amendment to Amendment 216F

- 216FA★ In paragraph 32A(3), at end insert “unless the CAC is satisfied that substantial operational restructuring has occurred which materially alters the composition or function of the bargaining unit.”

This amendment introduces a narrow exception allowing the CAC to consider substantial changes to worker numbers where those changes arise from genuine operational restructuring that materially affects the appropriateness of the bargaining unit.

LORD SHARPE OF EPSOM
LORD HUNT OF WIRRAL

As an amendment to Amendment 216F

- 216FB★ In paragraph 32D, at end of inserted sub-paragraph (4A) insert—

“(4B) Sub-paragraph (4A) does not apply where the CAC determines that continued application would result in the bargaining unit no longer accurately reflecting the composition of the workforce for the purposes of collective bargaining.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment ensures that the bargaining unit remains representative of the actual workforce. It empowers the CAC to override the three-year restriction if ignoring workforce changes would undermine democratic and representative collective bargaining.

BARONESS JONES OF WHITCHURCH

- 216G Schedule 6, page 237, line 2, leave out from “(6)” to end of line 4 and insert “—

 - (b) such longer period (so starting) as the CAC may specify to the parties by notice containing reasons for the extension.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment would provide that, where an application under Part 3 of Schedule A1 to the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 (changes affecting bargaining unit) has been made, the period for agreeing terms on which the trade union concerned is to have access to the relevant workers in connection with the application is 20 working days following notification that the application is accepted. Member's explanatory statement

This amendment ensures that, where the Central Arbitration Committee decides that a complaint about unfair practices in connection with an application under Part 3 of Schedule A1 to the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 is well-founded, the CAC may make an order under paragraph 81I(3) of that Schedule, or give notice of a ballot under paragraph 81I(5), whether or not a ballot arising from the application has been held.

- (b) such longer period (so starting) as the CAC may specify to the parties by notice containing reasons for the extension.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment would provide that, where an application under Part 4 of Schedule A1 to the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 (derecognition) has been made, the period for agreeing terms on which the trade union concerned is to have access to the relevant workers in connection with the application is 20 working days following notification that the application is accepted. - (a) refuse the employer’s application under paragraph 106 or 107;
- (b) order the employer to refrain from any campaigning in relation to an application under paragraph 112.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment provides for a sanction where an employer fails to comply with an access agreement under Part 4 of Schedule A1 to the Trade Union and Labour Relations (Consolidation) Act 1992 and the application for derecognition of a trade union as entitled to conduct collective bargaining on behalf of a bargaining unit has been made by one or more workers in the unit under paragraph 112 of that Schedule. The Central Arbitration Committee may order the employer not to campaign in relation to the application.

216LA★ In paragraph (b), at end insert—

- (a) the employer’s non-compliance was material and likely to have affected the fairness of the derecognition process, and
 - (b) the proposed restriction is proportionate and necessary to protect the integrity of the process.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment introduces a proportionality test to ensure that CAC sanctions against an employer – particularly the restriction on campaigning – are applied only where the employer’s breach materially affected the derecognition process and further intervention is clearly justified.

LORD SHARPE OF EPSOM
LORD HUNT OF WIRRAL

216LB★ Schedule 6, page 249, line 38 at end insert—

- (a) the union’s non-compliance was material and likely to have affected the fairness of the derecognition process, and
 - (b) the proposed restriction is proportionate and necessary to protect the integrity of the process.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment supplements existing sanctions against unions by allowing the CAC to impose campaigning restrictions as an alternative or additional sanction, with safeguards to ensure proportionality and fairness.

216M Schedule 6, page 249, line 38, at end insert—

- (3) The order may be enforced –
 - (a) in England and Wales, in the same way as an order of the county court;
 - (b) in Scotland, in the same way as an order of the sheriff.”

Member's explanatory statement

This amendment is consequential on my amendment of Schedule 6 at page 249, line 32. It enables the worker making the application in question, or the trade union concerned, to enforce an order made against an employer requiring the employer not to campaign in relation to the application.

LORD SHARPE OF EPSOM

216MZA★ In inserted subsection 116EA(2) leave out “and the union (or each of the unions)” and insert “or the union (or each of the unions), but not both”

LORD HUNT OF WIRRAL

As an amendment to Amendment 216M

216MZB★ Leave out sub-paragraph (3) and insert –

- “(3) The order may be enforced only by the CAC using its existing statutory powers.”

This amendment preserves the established role of the CAC as the primary enforcement body and removes the potential for employees or unions to initiate separate legal proceedings in the civil courts, which would fragment the process and risk inconsistency.

LORD SHARPE OF EPSOM
LORD HUNT OF WIRRAL

216MZC★ In inserted paragraph 116EA, at end insert —

This amendment ensures parity by giving employers the same right to enforce a CAC order as that proposed for unions and workers, addressing the imbalance in the original drafting and ensuring procedural fairness.
